THE CANADIAN WHEAT BOARD

In this issue, we are printing an advertisement of the Canadian Wheat Board respecting the 5,000 bushel limit on deliveries. The Board would like to remind land-owners to read these instructions carefully so that all risk of offending the Act will be avoided.

It will be noted that every person who sells to the Board in excess of 5,000 bushels in each of which will be subject to a fine of $100. Any person who is guilty of advertising regulations set out in the advertisement is guilty of an offence and punishable on summary conviction by fine or imprisonment. It is the earnest hope of the Wheat Board that the public, associations and understanding of these regulations will prevent any infringement of the law and that all producers will co-operate to that end. The Board will have inspectors checking deliveries at elevators and farms to assist in administration of the Act.

Any farmer or other person entitled under the Act to wheat grown on a farm who is in doubt regarding the above is invited to write to the Board submitting full details regarding his case.

RACKETEERING

Whether towns are the special prey of racketeers is an unanswered question. But we undoubtedly have our share. "Racket" may be too harsh a term to apply to the hundred and one crimes which have their special place in many of our more helpful community institutions. But in the aggregate they take a surprising toll out of the community income.

However, there are campaigns carried on by the police and others which can be viewed as tolerable. The cause is purely commercial, and for the benefit of some institution or individual with whom or whom the town has no direct association, and from which it receives no benefit of any nature. The money is lifted

News Items of Local Interest

Since Saturday the 22nd Battery armoury has been under a military guard twenty-four hours a day Word has been received here that as many soldiers as can be wanted for coast defence. A number have gone to camp to date.

Following evening about seven o'clock a forty mile an hour wind struck the city and stirred up a great cloud of dust. In parts of the district the wind was accompanied by rain which did not amount to much. Severe light showers fell on Monday.

Howard "Skinny" Bowes heading a squad of Calgary fishermen arrived at Gleichen at 6:12 o'clock Sunday morning. After waking up some of from the town by persuasive solicitors, and vanishes, so far as any local return is concerned.

As a result, the passengers can descend on our streets and persuade local people to buy advertising space on public schools. The sales agents themselves can do little to help them because they make their situation much easier, if they would be careful to refrain from discussing any political questions that might arise, especially concerning the government's economic policies.

It will of course, be merely an act of simple human decency and kindness for the rest of us to do our best to make the lot of those good Canadians as easy as possible, by committing no action that will tend to embarrass them, or to make their existence any harder than need be; for when the war is over we shall be glad to see them again we will bring each other as good friends and neighbors—in short, as Canadians.

The home press has one service only to the local district. Its purpose is to strengthen that district, to support it in times of war, in any emergency, fail, financial or otherwise, and to keep it healthy and, to a large extent, self-sufficient.

It is disheartening to find how often potential advertisers prefer to patronize strangers, whose schemes are most questionable, value and who have neither interest in, nor value to the town.

Doubtless all merchandisers have similar experiences. They see customers to whom they have sold something, and a few months later come in with the wistful means nothing to the general prosperity of the town. Mutual loyalty is necessary of any community to thrive.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

BY H. G. L. STRANGE

As I am writing this column, the Prime Minister of Great Britain warns that we are rapidly approaching a world war.

If war actually does come, Canada no doubt will immediately be involved. In this good country we have living among us hundreds of thousands of families, men, women and children who have found here a peaceful living and happy homes, but who his friends at that early hour spent the day fishing at the river. They took home a fine mess of fish.

Dan McLeod's car was stolen the other night and was found a short distance north of town. A reason Dan has got his car today is a faulty vacuum tank. The tank did not function right and Dan had put off fixing it and the result was the robbers got stung for their efforts.

The Casting Club will stage a Labor Day dance next Monday night at the Gleichen hall. The admission is to get another sheet of ice added to their rink thus making three sheets. As this will mean some expense they hope to raise some funds for the purpose at the dance which they are holding Monday night.

William G. Reed of Sander, Alta., had been a resident of Edmonton for a short time when he died yesterday afternoon. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Major J. J. Sutherland and other officers of the Salvation Army officiating. Services were held in the Gleichen cemetery. Dressed in white by his widow and son who were present at the funeral.

The question is: Are more men and women killed in accidents while they are at work or while they are not at work? The Alberta Safety League's answer taken from the National Safety Council's edition of the year book, August 1938, is as follows: "In fact, just off the press, is that more are killed while they are not at work. Last year 94,000 persons died in accidents. Death of workers in agriculture, forestry and mining numbered 27,500 to the total. Of these, only 16,500 were due to work accidents. The remainder, 21,000 resulted from accidents in the home, from failure of the not at work factor, sufficed by employed persons, 13,000 resulted from motor vehicle accidents, 8,000 from non-motor accidents.

...some quite recently, from countries with which Canada may soon be at war. In times of war, in any country, there is a tendency for people to do things which are dangerous, but they themselves can make their situation much easier, if they would be careful to refrain from discussing any political questions that might arise, especially concerning the government's economic policies.

It will of course, be merely an act of simple human decency and kindness for the rest of us to do our best to make the lot of those good Canadians as easy as possible, by committing no action that will tend to embarrass them, or to make their existence any harder than need be; for when the war is over we shall be glad to see them again we will bring each other as good friends and neighbors—in short, as Canadians.

MR. CAFFEINE-NERVES meets his match

Music Is Essential

Because Of Important Part It Has In National Life

Which is the more effective, a speech or a song? Which grips a man more? What haunts him most? What stays in his memory the longer? Our own preference might be, "Give us a song, lads. Give us a song to cheer."

The directing heads of George Washington University and the United States Naval Academy feel the same way about it. A despatch from Washington reports that mid-term graduates at this university went out to hear Gladys Swarthout sing the sweet notes of Gladys Swarthout's voice ringing in their ears instead of the customary words of wisdom from a commanding general.

The president added: "President Chap. Marvin explained the university presented the singer rather than a speaker at the exercises because of the important role that music plays in the national life."

There are precedents for song in preference to a speech. Remember, on a battle day,

"Give us a song, the soldiers cried,

And then,

"Each heart recalled a different name,

But all sang Annie Laurie."

No demand for a speech on that occasion. The insistence was all on song. Sometimes everyone can join in a singing contest cut out in a speech that way unless to heckle or look visibly distressed.

A song can be perhaps the most effective means of getting across a message. It can stay with a man down yonder old corridors of time, where many a speech can bore one to thoughts of homicide, self-destruction or both—Remember Leader-Poet.

"Ingrams of Arabia" Having Great Success With Tribal Leaders

young Briton with an engaging smile and a knack of getting things done, "Ingrams of Arabia" they call him, and he's got them made, but he's not afraid of money or power to increase Britain's prestige abroad than any amount of radio program propaganda.

Still fondly footy, W. H. Ingram has been sent to the Hadramaut, a once-harsh area where nothing flourished but murder, tribe feuds and war.

Ingrams championed her. "Let her alone! She's going to have her ginger ale, malted milk or camomile tea, or anything else she wants. But that doesn't cramp your style!" She poured him a lavish highball.

Sarah Lynn came home with Dan Van Doren and the Keaton Dana. She wore an unimportant dress which did nothing for her dark slimness and she managed to give the atmosphere a touch too seriously. The youth from Detroit had an air of languid intelligence and pallid good-breeding, and Keaton Dana was a solid young man with a wry smile. Sarah Lynn had made Dana decide her leisurely way toward the guest of honor in a shimmering gleam. Hers was a vibrant, independent girl, a ripe loveliness; overripe, Sally Ann thought grimly, in disarray.

"Wonderful to meet you at last," Arding drawled negligently, appraising her from under the heavy white brows. "I've been long eyeing those two Big Shucks at Danavale in one night!" You— and Gunnar Thorwald!

"Gunnar—not the young Norwegian Gunnar?"

"In person. Jim Allison's bringing him. You must meet him. But he won't take you for a ride. He never flies women."

It can't be hard to succeed in hearing it. I had rather more than my share of the girls."

"You must come and see my house," he said.

"I passed it to-day. Do you get in and out with a can-supper?"

"Have a zipper down the front." She nodded, indulgent, patronizing. "I'll be seeing you." She made a slow progress across the room, crowned room and Adashie Dana took her place beside the traveler.

The eyes of both women were on Sarah Lynn and her suitor, and they saw him. Van Doren took a step back with a quick, sharp intake of breath. "Van Doren, take her with you! She's like a wild cat, and she'll scratch you!"

The eyes of both women were on Sarah Lynn and her suitor, and they saw him. Van Doren took a step back with a quick, sharp intake of breath. "Van Doren, take her with you! She's like a wild cat, and she'll scratch you!"

"Who is it?" Mrs. Edwin Lynn Dana demanded sharply. "To come here in those clothes..."

"He's merely alighting the earth for an hour, I dare say," Sally Ann supplied. "Gunnar Thorwald, who's down the Atlantic, has been seen on the other side, the Norwegian Lindy," they called him. Europe's most beamish boy of the air."

"Mind if we go to dinner?" he addressed himself confidently to Adashie.

"Of course not, dear boy," she beamed approval on him.

"I may be a bit of a bore, you know, we look at the silly Stewed Prune," he told her conscientiously.

"I shan't worry, Duncan. I know Sarah Lynn is safe with you when ever you're anywhere—you take her, and I will herself say to run along and have a happy time."

"Thanks a lot!" He made his way through the long room, full to overflowing now with family and friends, Chinese servants who trayed of coffee and tea and little fried dumplings.

Sudden rage took hold of them both. "Get out!" And she was motivated not so much by the desire to rescue the thin dark girl who was a flashback to her own youth as the urge to defend the beautiful blonde model.

"I've taken rather a fancy to your kid, Cousin Adashie," she heard herself say. "I think I'll take her back to Europe with me if you don't mind."

"But I mind—I should mind very much indeed," Mrs. Edwin Lynn Dana said quickly. "It's very sweet of you dear Cousin Sally Ann, but I happen to have other plans for my girl."

"I have an idea," the traveler said casually, "that you'll not have much trouble in getting rid of Gunnar—what a madhouse! And what they eat at being devils? Will you look at my Neddy? Biscuits of soda and bread at eight o'clock for the next week. He's dying on the vine right now."

Duncan Van Doren had turned away to speak to someone else and Sarah Lynn stood alone.

"All I have to say is...."

"We farmers would never have gained a Wheat Board if it had not been for the Wheat Pool."

"And we farmers will never hold the Wheat Board if the Pool loses its strength and influence. I know, too, that this strength stems from grain deliveries from farmers like me."

"I know perfectly well what I am doing when my wheat goes to Alberta Pool Elevators. I KNOW I'M RIGHT."

"Everyone knows that Alberta Pool Elevators give exceptional service, not only to the individual farmers, but to the entire farming community."

"And if 20 per cent more Alberta farmers, even 10 per cent more, would patronize Pool elevators in a short time the debt to the government would be wiped out and the Pool system would be operating on a patronage dividend basis."

Prairie chicken and ruffed grouse may be shot in the region of Athabasca and Clearwater rivers from Sept. 2 until Sunday Oct. 15. Both of these rivers, designated and north of the C.M.R. main line running through Edson, Edmonton and Wainwright, the season will extend from noon Oct. 2 until sunup Oct. 14.

War on the reckless driver has been declared by the R.C.M.P. With main highway surfacing extending to various parts of the province, there has been an increase in tendency to speed, thus aggravating the traffic problems. Police are taking definite action to curb dangerous driving. Recently there have been many reports of drivers driving their cars which were violating the law through not having proper head or tail-lights, or were contravening regulations in other respects. Safety on the highways is strongly advocated by the police, who have given full support to local efforts directed to lower the accident toll in this province. In the interests of all who use the main highways with full regard to the requirements of safety, it is important to note that police and drivers in this province will receive the general support of all fair-minded citizens.

REGULATIONS
